$60,000 Asked by County Auditors Trial and Special Static Held Up Terms of Supreme News from Hoover For Coming Year Court for 1929 For Second Time

Cost of Maintenance of County Buildings and Departments Reported to Board of Supervisors—Snow Removal and New Filing Cabinets in County Clerk's Office Increase Expenditures.

Owing to an overdrift of about $7,000 the county board of auditors after making their report on expenditures during the year requested of the board of supervisors at the session Thursday evening an appropriation of $60,000 to pay overdrift and for payment of bills for the coming year. The appropriation last year made by the board of supervisors was $50,000. Audits for snow removal during last winter were $27,315.81, against $21,994.89 for snow removal during winter of 1926-27. Owing to the installing of steel cabinets in place of the old paper boxes used for years in the county clerk's building for filing of valuable documents kept for record, the audits for the county clerk were considerably larger.

The following schedule of expenditures was submitted, showing for what departments they were made, including coal, oil, gas, electric light, water bills and telephone service:

Court House	$7,755.54
County Clerk's Building	1,782.37

The committee on tuberculosis and laboratory accounts reported having examined all accounts and found them correct for audit, amount claimed being $7,433.10, same amount allowed. Filed.

The committee on county treasurer and district attorney reported having found all expenditures had been made as reported and ready for audit. Claimed, $3,284.15; allowed, $3,984.15. Filed.

The special committee appointed to receive proposals for printing the proceedings of the board of supervisors in book form reported that the lowest bid was from The Kingston Freeman Publishing Company, the bid being $3.60 per page. The committee recommended the contract be awarded to The Kingston Freeman Publishing Company. Supervisor Dunsinberry moved the report be adopted and contract so awarded. Carried.

Highways and Bridges.
County Superintendent of Highways Loughran stated in a communication that he ascertained when examining different highway conditions throughout the town of Saugerties that the road leading from Felton's Corners past the Blue Mountain Church to the boundary line between Ulster and Greene counties, a distance of four miles, was not on the county map and requested it be so placed. He also requested an appropriation of $1,000 for maintenance of the pieces of highway turned over by the State Highway Department to Ulster county in exchange for the same mileage taken over by the state at Chichester. He also reported that a temporary bridge had been constructed in the town of Rochester at Boodle Hole Hollow, made necessary by reason of flood damage, and that bridges at Banjo and Lawrence would be placed as soon as possible. An appropriation of $4,000 for the Frank Decker bridge in the town of Rochester. The report was filed and later the requests for appropriations were on motion, recommended and laid over under the rule.

A request for an appropriation of $100 from Pratt Post G. A. R., signed by Jay S. Rose, adjutant, the money to be used to purchase grave markers, was read and referred to the committee on appropriations.

T. B. Hospital Inadequate
A report from the State Charities Aid Association, Albany, as to tuberculosis hospital was received and filed, the opinion being the hospital was utterly inadequate and expressing a hope there will be no delay in building a new hospital on the new site that had been purchased.

Report on Ulster County Farm
A report on the Ulster county jail was received and filed.

A report on inspection of the Ulster County Farm at New Paltz was received, stating it ranked 2 as to plant and 2 as to administration. It

Alberto Palacios, foreign minister, will head the group of Bolivian cabinet officers and two score other guests who will journey from La Paz to be guests of the American ambassador of good-will at luncheon aboard the Maryland. The program calls for a stay of four hours at the Chilean port.

Starts to Say Good-bye.
Mr. Hoover has already started to say good-bye to the officers and crew of this big battleship. He addressed a message to them through "The Catapult," the weekly paper published on the ship. It said:

"It has indeed been fine to sail to South America on the U. S. S. Maryland. I want to thank Captain Kimbrey and his fellow officers, as well as all members of the crew, for the exceptionally fine courtesies that have been extended to Mrs. Hoover, to me and to those who are accompanying us."

It was decided that everybody should turn out to meet Santa Claus at the train this evening and escort him on his tour around the city. Although Santa Claus is brought here and maintained by Rose & Gorman, that firm is sharing him with the other members of the association and he will be seen in many places before Christmas.

2 More Named in Rothstein Case
New York, Dec. 7 (P).—The names of two more men believed by the police to have been implicated in the slaying of Arnold Rothstein were made public today.

The two men, who police said they have been seeking for three weeks, are James (Libby) Quigley and John Burke, hangers-on and alleged friends of the slain gambler.

Whether they and Hyman (Gilly) Biller, also sought by police in connection with the slaying, are the three named in the murder indictments brought by the grand jury was not revealed. The identities of two of those named in the indictments were hidden under the legal pseudonyms of "John Doe" and "Richard Roe" and the third name was held secret.

George McManus is the only one of the four indicted men who has been arrested. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder.

American Listed Among Drowned
Lima, Peru, Dec. 7 (P).—The death toll that resulted from the flooding of a gallery in the Campana mine near the Andean mining city of Morococha was estimated by the ministry of public works today to be 27. Thirteen men caught by the water in the Alejandro mine were rescued after many hours of work.

Captain McGregor, an American engineer, was among those listed as having been drowned. The others were a foreman and twenty-five workers.

The disaster occurred, an official statement said, when water leaked through from San Francisco pond into the mine shaft.

She was a graduate of Radcliffe College and devoted much of her time to educational work.

Retired Railroad Official Dies
Baltimore, Dec. 7 (P).—Edward J. Pearson, recently retired president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, died at Johns Hopkins Hospital this morning.

Pearson, whose resignation as head of the railroad was given because of ill health, had been at the hospital since October 22, under care of Dr. Lewis F. Barker. The immediate cause of his death, it was announced at the hospital, was cerebral hemorrhage.

U. S. S. Maryland Into "Radio Pocket," Preventing All Messages and Press Dispatches From Ship—Ends Cruise on Maryland Monday.

Aboard U. S. S. Maryland, enroute to Antofagasta, Chile, Dec. 7 (P).—The Hoover "good will ship" passed today from the coast of Peru to that of Chile, where two stops will be made. The first will take place Saturday at Antofagasta, where officials of the Republic of Bolivia will board the vessel for a four-hour visit with the president-elect of the United States.

The second stop in Chilean waters will be at Valparaiso on Monday. That will mark the end of the cruise of the Maryland, as Mr. Hoover and his party will travel overland to the east coast and board the U. S. S. Utah for the homeward journey.

Sailing under clear skies and in cool weather, the president-elect had a restful day yesterday after a strenuous program Wednesday at Lima, Peru. For the second time recently, the Maryland ran into a "radio pocket," all messages and press dispatches being held up during that time.

Escort Fires Parting Salute.
When the Maryland said goodbye to the coast of Peru today, she also bade farewell to the Peruvian cruiser "Coronel Bolognesi" which had accompanied her from Callao. The escort ship fired a parting salute and turned back toward her home port.

Shortly thereafter, a Chilean naval escort came into view, their guns thundering a greeting which virtually echoed the good-bye of the Peruvian vessel. The Chileans will halt with the Maryland at Antofagasta.

Alberto Palacios, foreign minister, will head the group of Bolivian cabinet officers and two score other guests who will journey from La Paz to be guests of the American ambassador of good-will at luncheon aboard the Maryland. The program calls for a stay of four hours at the Chilean port.

Police Chief of South Chicago Shot to Death On Kellogg Treaty

Leroy Gilbert, Known as "A Tough Cop," Murdered While Seated at Home With His Family—Slain Chief Had Led Raids and Turned Prisoners Over For Prosecution.

Chicago, Dec. 7 (P).—Leroy Gilbert, the South Chicago Heights police chief who was proud of his reputation as "a tough cop," went both the "boys in the booze racket" and the "boys in the booze racket" any more. Some men with sawed-off shotguns got him last night; shot him dead, through the back.

Gilbert was seated at home with his family, his back to the front window and the light from a floor lamp beside his chair set him apart from others in the room. Like a spotlight shining out an actor on the stage, his chair was only a few feet from the front window; and the back of his head, dropped slightly forward as he read, was an easy target from the street. The shade had been drawn only half way.

Some Senators Believe Reservation Should Be Made Reasserting America's Position on Monroe Doctrine—Secretary Kellogg Discusses Correspondence With World Powers.

Washington, Dec. 7 (P).—Early and favorable action on the Kellogg Treaty to renounce war by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was predicted today by Chairman Borah after a discussion of the treaty by the committee for an hour and a half at which Secretary of State Kellogg was present.

Another executive session was called for Tuesday however, and Secretary Kellogg was asked to be available then if he is wanted by the committee.

Borah said he had discerned no open opposition to the treaty during the discussion today but that questioning had indicated to him that some Senators believed a reservation should be recorded reasserting America's position as set forth in the Monroe Doctrine.

Kellogg was closely questioned, particularly in respect to any bearing the treaty, now signed by 60 of the 64 world powers, might have on this country's Monroe Declaration of its right to protect the North and South American continents. The secretary told the commission that the pact could not affect the doctrine.

While some Senators have thought a reservation desirable, no member of the committee has apparently reached a decision. Borah announced he would oppose any reservation which would require reconsideration of the treaty by all of the signatory nations.

Kellogg went into a detailed discussion of the correspondence between the state department and the world powers leading up to the final negotiations of the treaty. The letter of Great Britain in which it accepted the treaty upon the distinct understanding that it does not prejudice freedom of action in territories received particular attention.

The secretary and Borah took the position that the British letter did not change the meaning of the treaty in the "slightest degree." They insisted the treaty was precisely the same as if the English note had not been written.

Two in Hospital, Two Were Jailed
Rampus at Goldrick's Landing Thursday Evening Lands Two in Kingston Hospital and Two in County Jail to Await Hearing.

William Brown and Robert Payne are in the Kingston Hospital and William Brown and John Johnson are being held in the county jail awaiting a hearing in justice's court as the result of a rampus at Goldrick's Landing Thursday evening which resulted in Brown being hit in the back of the head with a brick and Payne slashed across the face with a razor.

An X-ray will be taken today to determine whether Brown sustained a fracture of the skull. All four men are negroes.

Brown and Johnson were arrested by State Trooper Coons and Constable McCullough and brought to the county jail. Later in the day they will be taken before a justice for a hearing on a charge of assault. All four negroes are said to be from Virginia and are employed on brickyards in this vicinity.

An odd fact is that two of the negroes gave the name of William Brown, the one in the hospital and the other in jail.

Continue Fuss Case Wednesday
In the action for annulment of marriage brought by Mrs. Peter Fuss against her husband, an adjournment has been taken in Supreme court until Wednesday.

Judge Russell started taking the testimony in open court but adjourned the case to chambers and excluded the public. It had been anticipated the testimony would all be taken at a hearing Tuesday, but when it was found more time would be necessary Judge Russell continued the case in Wednesday morning, holding the jury in court until the afternoon when it was expected the case could be finished, but evidently new testimony developed which has caused an adjournment until next Wednesday. Charles J. Flanagan appears for the plaintiff and A. J. Cook for the defendant.

17 Known to Have Drowned
Iquique, Chile, Dec. 7 (P).—Seventeen persons were known today to have drowned when the Chilean steamship Quintero sank off Punta Patache, near here, in a collision with the steamship America.

After the crash the America stood by and rescued the captain of the Quintero and most of his crew and landed them at Iquique. The rescue vessel also had aboard three bodies taken from the water.

Officers of the America said that the collision was violent and that the Quintero sank quickly. Port of Seals went aboard the America as soon as it arrived and started an investigation. What they learned has not been divulged.

Religious Organization Erecting a Tabernacle on Downs Street in Which to Hold Religious Services—Services Commence as Soon as Tabernacle Is Ready.

The Seventh Day Adventists, a religious organization with headquarters in Middletown, has purchased a lot on Downs street on which a tabernacle is now being erected in which to hold religious services. The lot was sold to the religious organization by Judge William D. Brinley.

During November a permit to erect the tabernacle was obtained from Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy by W. R. Andrews of Middletown, a member of the Seventh Day Adventists, and work on the tabernacle is now under way.

The tabernacle will be similar in design to that erected on Delaware avenue several years ago in which to hold the Peacock evangelistic services. The present tabernacle will be smaller than the one that was erected on Delaware avenue. It is a completed structure and as soon as it is completed it will be used for holding religious services.

Mr. Andrews, who obtained the building permit, is in Kingston overseeing the construction of the tabernacle. As far as known the Seventh Day Adventists never had a permanent place to hold religious services in this city. It is said that there are several members of that faith who are residents of the city.

King's Powers of Resistance Are Serving Him Well
In His Battle With Severe and Persistent Illness—Illness Still Causing Anxiety to His Subjects and Well Wishes Throughout the World.

London, Dec. 7 (P).—King George's powers of resistance today were serving him well in his battle with the severe and persistent illness which attacked him more than a fortnight ago. His illness, however, still was causing anxiety to his subjects and to countless well wishers throughout the world.

Several recent medical bulletins, and particularly the one issued shortly before noon today, indicated how well his powers of resistance were serving the monarch. Today's bulletin reported that he was maintaining his general strength, to the bolstering of which some restful sleep that he had during the night doubtless contributed.

It appeared from the bulletins that the physicians were much concerned with the question of how the infection process around the lung region on the King's right side was developing. This has been the chief subject treated in the last few reports of the doctors and it was specifically stated that a further investigation of chest conditions would be undertaken during the day.

It was generally felt that many days of normal temperature and rest would be necessary before the King's physicians could say definitely that the crisis was over.

Favorable Signs.
Among the signs cited as favorable by the newspapers today was a report that the King yesterday showed a more active interest in public affairs and asked several questions concerning them. The King also desired to see the medical bulletin, which had been withheld from him during the last few days.

The British Medical Journal said that it must be apparent that the king was fighting an acute infection and that the strain upon his reserve of strength and in particular upon his circulation, has been severe and continuous.

The latest pointed out that the infection of the lung was of the kind in which the physicians expected no termination by crisis nor any set period of duration. The infection ebbs and flows and the fever is intermittent. The paper warned that this was an unusual strain upon the heart, especially in a patient of the king's age.

London was gratified by the progress of the homeward journey of the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Gloucester.

MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY PUZZLEIll and in Jail, Authorities Don't Know What to Do With Him.

Detroit.—A man literally without a country, in jail and ill, now wonders what will become of him. And the federal immigration authorities, who had him put in jail, likewise are wondering what they should do with him.

Of course, it is his own fault that he is in jail. The authorities really are not to blame for holding him, for he violated a federal law. But the man, whose entire record shows him to be honest and hard working, nevertheless is deprived of his liberty and seemingly is without recourse at law.

His case became what generally is termed a "situation" five years ago, when immigration authorities picked him out of the Detroit river and accused him of attempting to enter the United States illegally.

Fled From Armenia.

But that is a little ahead of the story. To begin when the trouble really started, Avedis Godoshian fled from Armenia, his birthplace, after the Turkish massacres. His wife and two of his six children had been killed by the Turks. Godoshian fled to France and there obtained a passport to Canada.

His plan was to come to Canada, establish his residence there, then emigrate to the United States. This, he understood, would be legal, as he had been told Canadian residents could enter the United States without waiting for immigration quotas. So he came to Windsor, with a little more than $2,000—his life savings—with which he was to bring his sister and his four remaining children to the United States.

In Canada, however, he found entrance to the United States was not so easy. He could not brazenly come to Detroit. Still the immigration authorities stood in the way of his dream of American freedom and prosperity. But finally he heard of a way to come to Detroit. All it required was $2,000, and what remained of his little family could be brought across the international boundary to new happiness.

Saved From River.

It was early on the morning of October 15, 1923, when Godoshian, with his sister and four children, got in a row boat with an "alien smuggler" on the Canadian side of the Detroit river. The smuggler rowed through the heavy fog and was nearly to the American side when a steamship loomed up in the fog, bore down on the row boat and shattered it. All except Godoshian were drowned. He clung to a suitcase, which, by some freak of chance, floated and after two hours he was rescued by an American immigration officer.

Worn out by his battle for life in the water, Godoshian was taken to a Detroit hospital to recover. Then came the word he could not remain in the United States. He entered pleas with the immigration authorities that he be allowed to remain until he recovered the bodies of his sister and children. Not entirely deaf to his plea, the immigration officers allowed him to post $500 bond—that he would return to Canada within six months, and that he would at no time become a public charge.

Godoshian got a job in a foundry and worked every day. He supported himself and saved a little money. But his savings three times were wiped out when bodies of his relatives were washed ashore and he provided them with burials. The other two never have been found.

From time to time the United States authorities extended his stay here. The permit was renewed, and the bond was continued. But a year ago a new set of immigration officers denied his appeal for another continuation and ordered him to return to Canada.

Big Problem Arises.

By this time, however, the Canadian authorities had become more strict than they were five years before. They would not admit him to Canada because they explained he had forfeited his Canadian residence when he came to the United States.

Then the big problem arose in the United States immigration offices. Unable to deport him to Canada, they thought of France, from which Godoshian had entered Canada. But France had no reason for accepting him, as that country had discharged all claim on him when it issued him the passport to Canada.

Armenia, then, was the only place to which he could be deported. It was his birthplace, so Armenia was the logical place to send him. Already the immigration authorities had applied at Washington for deportation papers to Armenia.

But even Armenia will not take him. In the opinion of Mrs. Catherine Herley, his attorney. The very fact that Godoshian fled Armenia as a refugee precludes all possibility of deportation to his birthplace, she contends.

Finds Sauerkraut of Asiatic Origin

Washington.—After all the flurry to call it "Liberty cabbage" a few years ago, sauerkraut may not have been an "enemy alien" at all.

Information at the Department of Agriculture indicates it originated in Asia and was introduced to the United States by German immigrants because it had become popular in central Europe.

Whistling LobsterFound in Bermuda

Somerset, Bermuda.—Jimmy Lamb, a veteran colored fisherman of Bermuda, has discovered a whistling lobster. Caught in the Cann fish pot the other day this particular lobster of enormous size whistled like the wailing of a West Indian hurricane. The island already has the hog fish that grunts, the squirrel fish that barks like a dog, the catfish that drums, the cow fish that moos, and a dozen other fish that make unusual sounds.

Roman Rulers.

The name "Caesar" was the family name of the first five Roman emperors, originating in Sextus Julius Caesar, who was a praetor, 205 B. C. The family became extinct with Nero in 68 A. D., and the title "Caesar" became simply a title of dignity. Both Augustus Caesar, born September, 63 B. C., who died in August of the year 14 A. D., and Tiberius ruled during the life of Christ. Augustus was reigning at the time of the birth of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Sherman and daughter of Ellenville, Mr. and Mrs. Christiana and Goldie and Thelma Cross spent Thanksgiving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sherman at Stone Ridge.

DEMOCRATIC DISSENTION.

There have been rumors that New York city's failure to give a Smith majority big enough to overcome Hoover's majority in the State was due to grudges against Smith nursed by bosses in several supposedly dependable districts. It has since been intimated that the McAdoo element in the South was considerably responsible for the break up of that section. An indication of this is noted in the arrogant and boastful assertion of a Chattanooga bolter—quoted by David Lawrence—that the regular Democrats of the South "will be coming to us on bended knee." That is to say, instead of the regulars permitting the bolters to come back without indiscreet unpleasantness, they will be obliged to humble themselves "on bended knee" before the triumphant and dominating bolters. Obviously this suggests but slender prospect of future harmony and union.

The significant part of it is that the Southern bolter who rides so high a horse is George Fort Milton, editor of the Chattanooga News, who in 1923 and 1924 was national publicity director for William G. McAdoo's Presidential nomination campaign. Further significance would seem to be involved in the assertion that other Southern bolters in the recent election campaign were conspicuous among McAdoo partisans four years ago. The conclusion would appear to be inescapable that Governor Smith suffered not only from religious prejudice and "dry" partisanship throughout the country, but also from knifing by disgruntled members of his own party in New York city and from the McAdoo-Smith feud which still curses the Democratic party in the South.

INFLOW.

Naturally the American Federation of Labor takes its stand with those who advocate restriction of immigration from Mexico and Canada as well as from Europe, with a view further to limit the supply of cheaper foreign labor. That cheaper labor comes in from Mexico is unquestionable, and there was a large increase of immigration from that country as soon as the limitation was applied against Europe. In the Southwest, however, imported Mexican labor is regarded as indispensable. The people of the States of that section are vigorously opposed to a Mexican quota system, claiming that if Mexican immigration is restricted or checked they will suffer severe losses, and these sustained by men of small means as well as by large employers. On the other hand, it is argued that the Mexicans bring in the same low standards of living as do the southeastern Europeans and that they ought to be excluded for the same reason.

Obviously this objection does not apply in the case of the Canadians, and the labor organizations are almost alone in urging limitation. The Canadians have the same language, largely the same traditions and standards, and are closely akin by blood to the original and still dominating element in the United States. Our connection with Canada is so close, in fact, that it is difficult to regard its peoples as foreigners. We have not only received large accessions from that country but have contributed heavily to the farming population of its western section even in recent times.

In connection with the debate on this question, it is interesting to learn that, in consequence of a slowing up of business in this country, Canadian immigration in the first quarter of the current fiscal year has declined 6,000 and the Mexican 2,400 as compared with last year.

EYE HAZARDS.

The American Federation of Labor is engaging in a national campaign of education for the conservation of sight among workers. In this it will have the cooperation of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, and doubtless of the French writer, Gauthier de Clugny.

which has done excellent work along this line.

The campaign is undertaken because it is found that "the eye hazards of industrial occupations are great, causing much impairment of vision among workmen." That is an industrial loss because it lowers workmen's efficiency. It is even more a human loss, involving discomfort, pain and helplessness. Factories are for better lighted than they were a generation ago, but there is still room for improvement. Individual defects of vision are very inadequately cared for, especially among adults. There are innumerable eye hazards in all occupations and among all classes of people. Eye hazards, too, but the eye hazards are more mischievous.

The Liberal government recently elected in Nicaragua has asked that American marines be kept in that country after the force has been gradually cut down to 1,000. This has caused surprise because the Liberals formerly complained bitterly that, though their party had a majority, the Conservatives were kept in power by the United States. But there is no occasion for surprise; the Liberals merely want to be kept in power in their turn.

According to Dean Alden Alley of the New Jersey Law School, "Americans are anarchists in the realm of international affairs." However, that may be, there is no little evidence to show that a majority of them cherish something like anarchistic contempt for one particular law of their country.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

HOW WATER HELPS

One of the first things you have noticed in an illness in yourself or some one else, is that constipation is present practically from the beginning.

As you know, most ailments are accompanied by a rise in temperature, fever as it is called, because this heat is needed to fight the invader. This heat must be removed from the body and this is done by the blood carrying it to the surface of the body, to the skin, where it is removed in the form of perspiration.

Naturally the blood needs a lot of water in order to remove this heat, and takes it from every part of the body.

And as most of the waste matter in intestine is made up of water, therefore it takes most of this, leaving this waste in a dry hard condition.

This in turn makes it hard for the intestinal muscles to move it along, and hence there is constipation.

You can readily see therefore that more water is needed in the system and these feverish individuals want and need plenty of water.

Your physician will likely prescribe Epsom salts for these conditions because the salts are of such composition that the system cannot extract the water from them, and they thus make the waste matter more fluid, so that it can be expelled down the intestine and out of the body by the muscular action of the intestinal walls.

Further, Epsom salts has the power to draw liquids from the blood, and thus in addition to supplying moisture to the waste matter, made dry by the fever, it takes some of the poisonous matter that is causing the fever, out of the blood.

So that the idea of drinking plenty of water daily is based upon good sense. It will help to prevent constipation.

I have spoken before about how the diluting of the blood with plenty of water enabled the kidneys to separate the poisons from the blood more readily. Therefore most of us, even when well, would be wise to drink one or two glasses of water between meals, in addition to that taken at mealtimes.

Abram Sammons died at his home in Rosendale, aged 87 years. At a conference held here it was decided to have police take census of all who had "flu" in city.

Pitcher Proverb.

"The pitcher goes so often to the water that it is broken at last." This is the form in which the English proverb is generally quoted. It belongs to the common folk sayings of several nations. Its most famous expression in literature is in Cervantes' Don Quixote: "So many times the pitcher goes to the fountain! Meaning that it gets broken. But the same proverb is found four centuries earlier in a French writer, Gauthier de Clugny.

HOW

TERM "MAD AS A HATTER"

HAS UNDERGONE CHANGE.—There has been much speculation as to the original application of "hatter" in "mad as a hatter." It is probably merely a corruption of "adder" in the older phrase "mad as an adder," which obviously alludes to the ostentatious manner in which the adder shows anger or irritation. In Anglo-Saxon and Old English "mad" was used in the sense of furious, angry, and even venomous, and it is still widely used for angry in English dialect, as well as in the United States. Originally "mad as a hatter" meant very angry or furious; now it is more frequently used in the sense of violently insane. There is probably no truth in the oft-told story that the phrase originally referred to a crazy hat-maker who was elected to the English parliament from Southwark in the early part of the Nineteenth century. It is sometimes stated that "mad as a hatter" was first employed in 1832 by Charles Lutwidge Dodgson in "Alice in Wonderland." That is incorrect. The phrase was used by Thomas Chandler Haliburton in "The Clockmaker; or The Sayings and Doings of Samuel Slick of Slickville," which was first published between 1837 and 1840. Haliburton wrote: "Sister Sally . . . walked out of the room, as mad as a hatter." In 1849 William Makepeace Thackeray wrote in "Pendennis": "We were . . . chaffing Derby Cakes—until he was mad as a hatter."—Pathfinder Magazine.

How Mountain System

of "Andes" Got Name

The origin of "Andes" as applied to a system of mountains in South America has not been definitely ascertained. It is supposed, however, that the name is derived from a native Peruvian word meaning copper, or perhaps metal in general. According to the Pan-American union, the Incas seem to have used the words "Anta," "Antil," "Antis," and "Antisuya" to designate districts in the mountains where metals existed. The Spanish conquerors gradually dropped the "i" and replaced it with "n" when referring to the mountains containing minerals. In succeeding years the entire mountain system between Panama and the Strait of Magellan became known as the Andes. Another theory deserves to be mentioned—namely, that the name of this mountain chain is a corruption of the Spanish "anden," meaning shelf, and that the name originally referred to the numerous shelf-like terraces all by the Incas for agricultural purposes on the western slopes of the Andes.—Exchange.

How an Idea Is Born.

We get many an idea for a work of art which gradually sinks into our unconsciousness, reaching a condition which we think and speak of as forgetfulness. But it continues to figure in our experiences, mysteriously drawing sustenance from them and developing independently of our efforts or knowledge. And one day it may happen to emerge again out of the depths of the mind. It is remarkably altered, and seems to admonish us: Now at last I am ripe for the purpose which I was meant to serve from the beginning; now for the first time we are worthy of each other. Let us both fulfill our destiny; create your work.—Arthur Schnitzler in Vanity Fair.

How Axioms Repeat.

Certain axioms expressed in different ways are to be found among practically all peoples and tongues. Take for instance "Taking coals to Newcastle," referring to the folly of sending that product to the point at which it is mine. Horace said: "It would be silly to carry sticks into the forest." The Greeks had a proverb about "carrying owls to Athens," the city abounding in those birds. Australians of today may like to amend it to "carrying fish to the Hellespont." And one could easily invent many more—such as carrying wheat to the prairies, carrying rock to British Columbia, or carrying yarns to the bay of Fundy.

How Glass Is Graded.

All flat glass contains some imperfections and the principle employed in grading is to exclude all defects that would be objectionable in a given grade. This is difficult to do since there are no sharp lines of demarcation between grades, and experienced inspectors will differ in judgment as to the quality of the glass approaches the limits of the grades. Small lights must be quite free from imperfections as compared with larger ones, and the center of any sheet should be clear, whereas the edge may contain more pronounced defects.

How to Harden Potatoes.

To harden or petrify potatoes make a solution of 4 four parts of sulphuric acid in 50 parts of water. Treat peeled potatoes with this solution for 36 hours. Dry the mass between blotting paper and subject to great pressure. By using very strong pressure billiard balls have been made closely resembling ivory. The material can be carved.

Stung Again.

WHAT ABOUT SALOON MONEY, ASKS EX-SOLDIER.

Editor, Kingston Daily Freeman.

I would like very much if I could just have a little space of your valuable paper to put this little fair and broadminded suggestion about our Hospitals of Kingston and Sunday movies and their offer of ten per cent of their fees, which both hospitals need very much and I think is fair enough. As for the Salvation Army, they thought nothing of going in saloons to get whatever a bunch of drunks could give them. And I am one who hates saloons, also drink, but would rather accept money from pictures than one cent from a saloon. As far as the hospitals, they are two of the best in New York state and you are treated with kindness regardless of your religion. So let this chip fall where it may.

HARRY C. EIZLEMAN, Ex-Soldier.

140 Attend Father And Son Banquet

On last Tuesday evening, in the auditorium of the Saugerties High School, the first community Father and Son Banquet was held under the auspices of the Saugerties High Club. This club was organized three years ago by Chester R. Hall of the local Y. M. C. A. Since that time the club has grown, not only in members but in strength.

The program included addresses by several local men, as well as from "Dutch" Connors, All-American back in 1921, and now assistant coach at N. Y. U.; and from Prof. T. A. Distler, director of admissions and personnel of the university.

Over 140 fathers and sons were present and all were unanimous in declaring it a splendid evening, but well worth making an annual event.

MOMBACCUS CENTER.

Mombaccus Center, Dec. 7.—This community was sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Lindemann, who died in New York city and was buried Thanksgiving day. Mr. Lindemann had for several years been the proprietor of one of the leading Jewish boarding houses of this place. He will be much missed. He leaves a wife and three small children and a son by a former marriage. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family.

The gift that lightens home tasks

Any gift that lightens the task of housekeeping gets a hearty welcome. A General Electric Refrigerator which, in addition, provides new comforts and economies, is assured of a double share of welcome.

For it means fewer trips to market, easier planning of menus, less work preparing foods. It means plenty of ice-cubes and a low bill for current.

The General Electric is particularly dear to a woman's heart because it is so completely automatic that it doesn't ever need oiling. It is unusually quiet. It is "years ahead" in design because all its machinery is on top, sealed in an air-tight steel casing. And it provides the scientifically correct temperature which is now recognized as a year-round necessity. To be healthfully fresh and wholesome, food must be kept at a temperature below 50 degrees.

If you come in we shall be glad to show you the various models. And we can arrange a convenient deferred payment plan, if you wish.

Birth of a Tree

All mature trees and nearly all plants bear flowers for the purpose of reproduction through the formation of seed. To accomplish this there are two essential organs, the pistil and the stamen. The flower includes the pistil, a fine dust, commonly yellow, in contact with the stigmatic surface of the pistil this fertilizes the flower, or, in the gardener's language, sets the seed. These two parts, the constituents of a perfect flower, we usually find in each blossom in the garden, but trees, especially those in the woods, more often have a separate flower for each, a pollen-bearing flower and a seed-producing one.—Washington Star.

MARRIAGE BY MAIL ERROR, VERDICT OF PARTICIPANTS

Husband Cost Price of Postage Stamp and Is Not Worth It, Says Wife.

Kansas City, Mo.—For a pretty 2-cent stamp Uncle Sam transports a letter and thereby changes the destinies of perhaps a score of persons.

No one knows what store of tragedy, romance, happiness, or anxiety is packed into a half dozen envelopes in a letter carrier's hands. Surely Nellie Wallace of Tehuila, Mich., and Deacon Joel Steet of El Paso had no idea how they were shaping their futures when they addressed their envelopes to the "Get Acquainted" column of a western newspaper.

It's getting ahead of the story to mention it at this time, but—Nellie later reflected after Joe became her husband:

"He cost me the price of a 2-cent stamp, and, believe me, he's not worth it to me!"

Joe's and Nellie's was literally a "mail-order courtship." Nellie's first letter was printed in the magazine's column:

"I'm not a flapper, but would like to correspond with men and women between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-two."

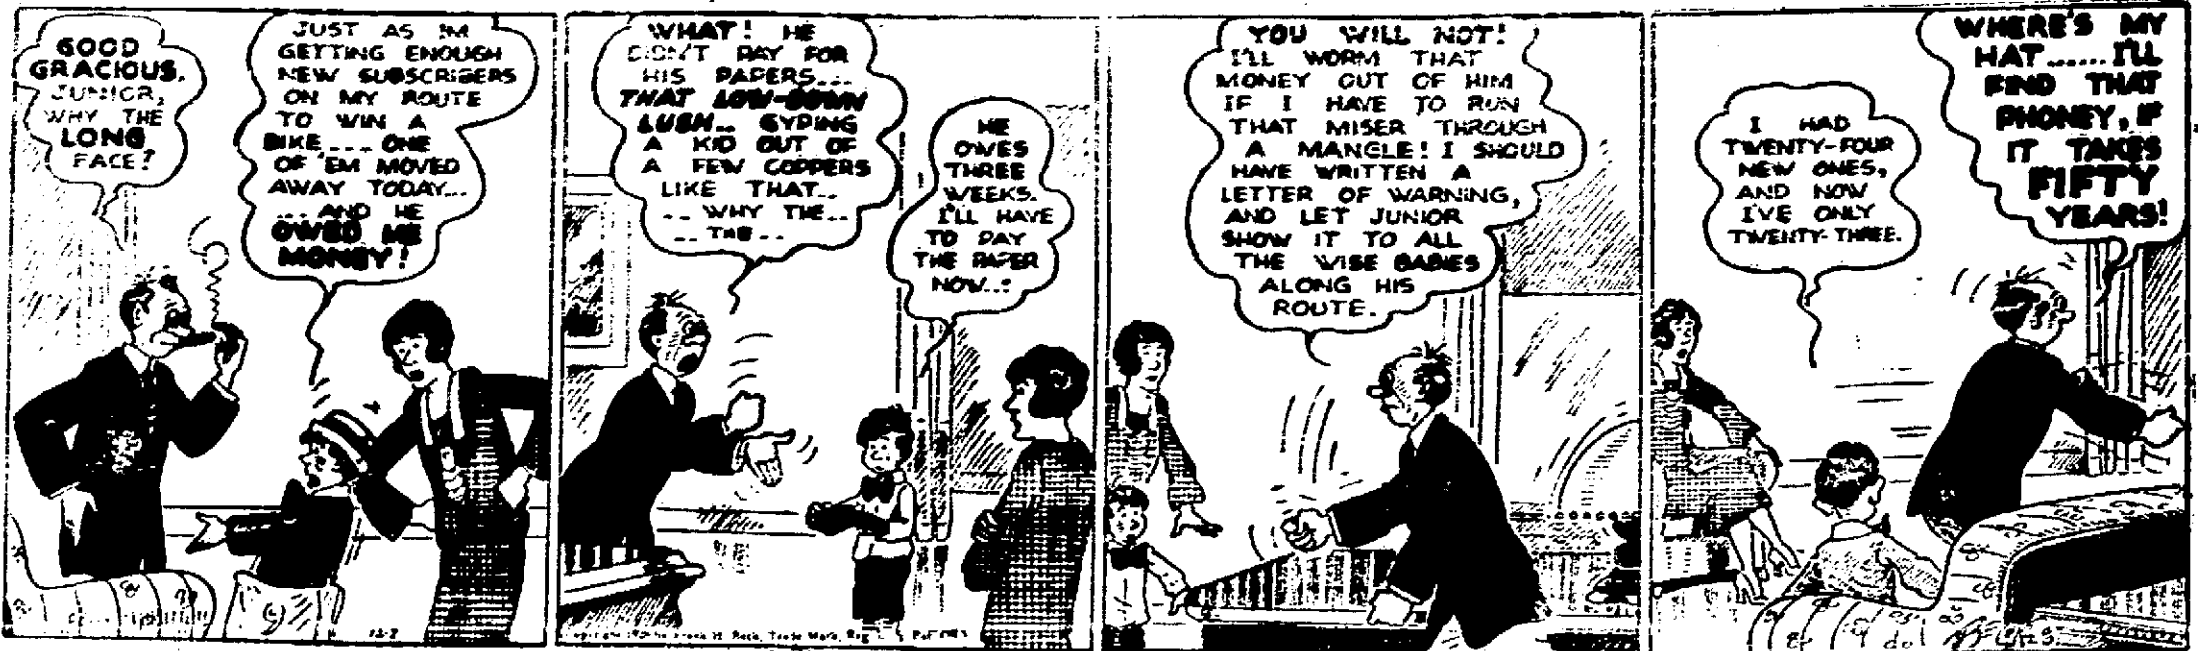

Out of an avalanche of replies Nellie singled out Joe Steet's as the most interesting, and there ensued a correspondence that, within a month, behaved like a thermometer on an August day. "Dear Nellie" became "Sweetheart." Photographs and letters of their accompanied statistical descriptions. Letters were signed with multiple "X's" and pictures of bleeding hearts, until Nellie found herself aboard a Texas-bound train to become the bride of the ardent deacon.

The wedding took place in the home of Joe and his mother. Joyous in their new-found love and in their escape from the boredom of single life (each had been married before), the couple felt that a Cupid in letter carrier's uniform certainly had functioned well.

Then the mother-in-law trouble began; the young Mrs. Steet and the elder Mrs. Steet found they had nothing in common except their last name. Next the blissful bridegroom discovered he had failed to make sure of his wife's cooking ability. It was negative. Finally Deacon Joe Steet staged a fadeout.

The disillusioned bride moved to a neighbor's house and planned a divorce suit on grounds of desertion.

GAS BUGGIES—The Lion Roars.

only to find her husband had filed a petition charging she not only had refused to prepare his meals but had demerced that his mother leave their home, and even had threatened her.

Prize Dramatist Is Found to Be Jailbird

Turin.—Riccardo Testa, the latest sensation in the Italian literary world, is known as "the jailbird dramatist." The magazine of dramatic art Comœdia recently organized a competition among young writers for the best comedy and offered several money prizes. Competitors were instructed to send in their plays under a pen name and include a sealed envelope containing their real name and address.

When the author of the winning play was traced, it was found that he was in prison, serving a sentence for theft.

Inquiries showed that the young dramatist had already been sentenced for theft on three former occasions and had twice been interned in a sanatorium for the insane.

Informed of his success by the prison governor, the dramatist expressed his satisfaction and stated he hoped to be released from prison in time to witness the first performance of his play, which is called "Conchiglia" or "Shell."

Jury Disagreed in Negligence Suit

Unable to Reach Verdict in Suit Arising Over Automobile Collision on Highland Road—Conflicting Testimony Concerning Speed of Defendant's Car.

The negligence action brought by Frederick Z. Coulter against N. B. Gottlieb was concluded in Supreme court Thursday afternoon and sent to the jury. The action arises out of a collision between a Nash sedan of plaintiff and a Chrysler of the defendant at Highland last July 4. In rebuttal a witness for plaintiff stated that he had been at the Highland ferry and saw the Gottlieb car leave. He observed it for the quarter mile stretch before it crossed the railroad tracks and noticed that it attained high speed before it left his sight. He placed the speed at 50 miles an hour or more. Gottlieb, who testified his niece was with him, stated that he never drove over 30 miles an hour from the ferry to the scene of the accident, and the girl testified she had not ridden over 30 miles an hour and could not state how fast they were going at time of the accident.

Plaintiff, who conducts a taxi and garage at New Paltz, produced a witness who testified that the Gottlieb car was traveling some 35 miles an hour 100 feet from the scene of the accident and that at that point, just before entering the turn where the accident happened, the Chrysler had passed the Ford car and then struck the Nash.

There was a clash in the afternoon as to the proper method of proving damages and whether depreciation of value in a car could be shown. Judge Russell ruled that the value of the car before the accident could be testified to as well as the cost of repairs but would not permit the value of the car six weeks after the accident and after repairs had been made, to the car be put in evidence. Samuel Van Kleeck had been called to testify to values but was permitted only to say the car was worth $1,450 or $1,475 before the accident. The jury at the opening of court this morning reported that they had been unable to agree on a verdict and they were discharged by Judge Russell.

Odd Sounds Gave Rise to Belief in Demons

South America has a moaning mountain. At certain seasons a deep note booms from Mount El Bromador in the Chilean Andes. In former days the natives listened to it with superstitious fear, while even a white man, hearing it for the first time, is startled at the mountain's "power." Another curious mountain exists in Nevada, though this one usually gives out a note resembling at first the jingling of bells and ending with a deep organ-like swell. In fact, these sounds are due to a peculiar formation of the earth, which under certain conditions of weather allows the separate particles to rub against each other and so produce musical effects. Elid Island, off the Scottish coast, has its "singing sands," where at times each grain rubs against its neighbor, the whole making a singing noise. Similar sands are found in China. In England is a mountain which howls in such a way that formerly it was supposed to be the haunt of demons. This is Cross Fell, in Westmoreland, where local conditions produce a gale with several peculiarities, including an awe-inspiring scream that at times can be heard for miles.

Plant Seizes On and Digests Animal Food

At Kew gardens, the ancient horticultural center of Great Britain, a new house has been recently erected for the accommodation of an extensive and interesting collection of insect-eating or carnivorous plants which includes specimens from all parts of the world. What is called "sundews" from Australia and South Africa have a very remarkable facility for discriminating between a morsel of food and one which is worthless for its purposes. If a fragment of meat or of hard-boiled egg is placed on a leaf, the tentacles gradually bend over, the edges of the leaf assisting in curling, until presently the morsel is completely enveloped and the process of digestion begins.

When this is over the leaf flattens out to its old position, the tentacles regain their erectness, the tips become globular with the "dew," and the trap is ready for the next victim.

But if a particle of mud or any other inorganic substance is placed on the leaf the plant pays no attention to the intrusion.

Sure for Outings.

The north of England, particularly the county of Lancashire, has something to tell the world about in the matter of arranging for a summer vacation. For here, says the New York Sun, is the example of the mass holiday paid for in advance by weekly subscriptions to various thrift clubs over the course of a year. The "Wakes" holiday comes in August, and miles and workshops in many districts are closed for ten days or a fortnight while thousands of hands go with their families to Blackpool or some other seaside resort or to the ever-popular Isle of Man. In Stockport alone the sum of $707,500 was withdrawn from the thrift club one week by its members. The town of Shaw with a population of only 2,000, saved $251,000 for its summer spree, and that despite bad trade.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Dec. 7 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets).—Western and central New York white Danish cabbage was in moderate supply. Early morning trading was very slow and values tended lower in a dull and weak market. Jobbing business on bulk stock was consummated at $40 to $45 per ton. One year ago sales were reported at $12 to $15. New York December 1, 1925, totaled 4,750 cars as against 8,333 for the same period last season.

The season's first carload of Mexican fresh green peas arrived on the local market today. The peas were elegant in quality and sold at principally $6.50 per crate of about 40 pounds. California offerings in similar packages peddled out at $5 to $7.

Arrivals of domestic yellow onions were moderate. The market ruled sluggish due to the poor demand. Medium sized fair quality yellow onions from Orange county New York realized $3.25 to $3.75 per 100 pound sack. Fancy stock from the middle-western states sold in small lots at $4.90. During the previous week onion shipments for the entire country amounted to 411 cars. Indiana held first place with 93 cars, New York second with 75 and Colorado third with 61 cars. The remainder of the supply was drawn from 12 states.

Supplies of cut carrots from the western part of the state were limited. The demand was fair and the market steady. Washed carrots changed hands at $2 to $2.10 a bushel basket while unwashed stock brought $2.65 a hundred pound sack. Most of the new crop, bunched carrots unloaded this morning were from California. Crates of 48 and 60 bunches were selling from $2.75 to $3.25, occasionally $3.50 to $3.75.

Receipts of white potatoes were moderate. The market continued inactive owing to the limited buying. Bulk round white potatoes from upstate New York sold chiefly at $2 per 150 pounds. On the same date last year state potatoes peddled out at mainly $2.50. State celery price changes were small and unimportant. The stock in the rough brought $2.25 to $2.50 rarely $3 per two thirds crate, celery in poor condition worked out as low as 75 cents. Celery shipments for the preceding week totaled 142 cars a decrease of 157 cars from the week before.

Wonderous Power in Books.

Except a living man there is nothing more wonderful than a book! A message to us from the dead—human souls we never saw, who lived perhaps thousands of miles away. And yet these little sheets of paper speak to us, arouse us, terrify us, teach us, comfort us, open their hearts to us as brothers.—Charles Kingsley

Color of Glass. The bureau of standards says that the purple color in glass is supposed to be due to a change of oxidation in the manganese content of the glass, which is a coloring oxide under certain conditions. This is supposed to be caused by certain rays of the sun which produce a difference in the degree of oxidation of the manganese present.

ILLINOIS BOY IS GIANT AT TEN AND STILL IS GROWING

Physicians Say If Average Rate of Growth Continues He Will Reach Nine Feet.

Alton, Ill.—Among members of the National Association of Longfellow, Robert Wadlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wadlow of this city, probably enjoys the most abundant prospects, professionally speaking. At ten years of age he is 6 feet 6 inches tall and weighs 211 pounds.

Four physicians who examined him predicted that his average growth of four inches a year will continue until he is approximately nine feet tall. They based their predictions on the size of Robert's feet, which now measure 15½ inches from heel to toe when out of his $30 a pair triple E size 21 shoes, explaining that a rapidly growing boy's feet outdistance their owner's height early and then wait for the rest of the body to catch up.

An overzealous pituitary gland is credited with the responsibility for Robert's upspringing. The boy's mother and father are of normal size as are Robert's three young brothers and sisters.

Robert makes satisfactory marks in his fifth grade class, according to his teacher, Miss Glenn. School authorities were forced to provide a special seat and desk for him, however—a seat from the high school resting on several blocks is momentarily satisfactory, but the janitor at Milton school where he attends is already casting about for some further improvement which may be needed any day since several seats have already broken under his weight.

After school he joins children of his own age playing on playground apparatus many sizes too small for him. He may be seen using the slide at the Horace Mann school. His height and weight and width reduce his speed down the apparatus and smaller children crowd him out since they can move more swiftly.

He encounters all sorts of trouble because of his height. The family Ford sedan will hold him, but he must squeeze slowly into the rear seat and then his head is but half an inch from the top. There isn't enough leg room in the front seat.

Wadlow, senior, says he has received a number of offers from circus and vaudeville producers for the appearance of Robert on the stage and sawdust. His parents, however, hope to give the young giant a satisfactory education before he enters what apparently will be his "natural" profession.

Bottle Goes 7,300 Miles in Long Ocean Voyage

Washington.—Six miles a day, or faster than old sailing vessels, is the record established by a bottle paper reported to the navy hydrographic office.

The bottle traveled 7,300 miles, from the Gulf of Tehuantepec on the western coast of Mexico to New Guinea. It was thrown overboard by Second Officer J. M. Johansen, of the Norwegian steamer Hellen, July 12, 1924, and was picked up December 13, 1927, on the north coast of New Guinea.

Caught by the northeast trades, the bottle drifted into the north equatorial current setting westward, its drift passing Clipperton island, between the Hawaiian Islands and Palmyra Island, through the islands of the Marshall group, thence southward of the Caroline Islands across the equator to the Hermit Islands, off the north coast of New Guinea.

Art Critics Prove

Too Appreciative

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Modernistic art seems to puzzle even the critics.

For three weeks "The Fossil Hunters," an example of modern art by Edwin Dickinson of Provincetown, Mass., hung in a choice position at the International exhibition of art here while thousands wondered what the maze of black and blue print, as it appeared to the untutored eye, was intended to be.

Officials connected with the exhibition, as well as the critics, apparently understood the picture perfectly, so no one asked questions.

But imagine the embarrassment of the officials and critics when Dickinson wired a demand that his picture be hung right side up instead of sideways!

Britain May Prohibit Marriage of Subnormal

London.—The British board of control, charged with the administration of the lunacy laws, has published a survey concerning the marriage of mental defectives. No immediate steps are likely to be taken by parliament, but the board's conclusions have aroused national interest. "A careful study of the information before us," says the survey, "leads to the conclusion that the marriage of defectives has disastrous consequences to the community and that the time has come when definite legislative steps should be taken to prevent the marriage of those under normal."

Corn Growing Favored

Mexico City.—So poor people of Mexico will not have to make their "tortillas" of high priced imported corn, Deputy David Ayala of Guana-jato has proposed that a government department be created to effect a greater domestic production.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—Science has devised a new form of code for secret communication in wartime—inverted speech. A message is unintelligible when it is spoken into a telephone transmitter and it comes out of a loud speaker on the receiving end correct. In a demonstration by Bell telephone experts something like "Fay-a-boone jay-cut play-a-teen crik-a-nope" came out of the speaker "Allegheny Mountain Telephone Company."

Columbus, Ohio—A device made at Ohio State University measures the applause of an audience. Congress won't use it. Some of the applause indicated by parenthesis in the congressional record never would register on the machine.

New York—Many marvelous machines that count are shown at a mechanical engineering exposition. One counts drops of falling water, another registers the number of times a finger is pointed at it. A third could run 10 years before all the dials would get to zero. Paper money and lines of print can be counted by machine.

Portsmouth, N. H.—The V-4 has been 215 feet down in the ocean for 21 minutes, which is a record for a dive by a United States submarine.

New York—In the words of James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, some of the fiction that is being turned out would corrupt even sailors. But seamen prefer non-fiction, he added at a luncheon in the interest of libraries at sea.

Princeton, N. J.—There's a big run on high silk hats. It is quite the thing for the university boys to wear them at dances, concerts or whenever girls are visiting.

New York—Pearl Eaton, who has stepped for Carroll and Ziegfeld, is back in town with a Chicago divorce. "Get married again," she mused. "I probably shall. I wasn't disappointed enough the last time."

Denver—Diamond Jack Alterio was in court for carrying concealed weapons. His defense was that his gun was in plain sight. The jury agreed with him. Finding: "That gun couldn't be concealed in anything smaller than a haystack."

NEW PALTZ

New Palz, Dec. 7.—Henry Saats, Sr., father of Charles Saats, from New York, is now with his son on the farm at Springtown for a short stay. Plan Development For New Palz

All the lots and acreage owned by the Sigm Realty Company located on the south side of Main street, New Palz, have been sold to the New Palz Lumber Company of New Palz. This property includes 12 lots on Harcourt Heights, on Lock Out avenue, one lot on Center street, all the lots known as Reya lots, opposite the State Normal School campus, and about 15 acres of land extending from the Normal School east to the village line.

The New Palz Lumber Company has had the property surveyed and laid out in streets and in the very near future the streets will be graded, sidewalks built and sewer and water connections made.

This property is one of the finest undeveloped properties located in the village, and it is understood that these lots are to be offered to home seekers immediately. The lumber company is perfecting a plan by which it will be possible for any one to own his home on an easy payment plan. The sale of this real estate was made through the agency of Elting Harp.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Although there was not nearly so much spreading as earlier in the week, the air was still plentifully supplied with squeals from interfering stations Thursday night. Reception was fair, but not extra good and DX was generally rather weak, even WLW not being up to its usual strength.

The field of movie theme music will be drawn upon by the Stromberg-Carlson musicians in their program of Friday evening, December 14, from 10 to 10:30, through WJZ and associated stations. "Jeansing", the theme-song from the moving picture, "Lilac Time" will be one of the songs offered by the male quartet. The quartet will sing other vocal favorites, while the instrumentalists give solos on the violin, saxophone, vibraphone and guitar.

A true story of the Yukon gold rush will be offered as the Socconland Sketch to be broadcast through the National Broadcasting Company's network on Tuesday night.

A twenty minute "thriller" in the form of W. W. Jacob's well known one-act playlet, "The Monkey's Paw," will be the central feature of The Eveready Hour program Tuesday evening, December 11.

Weather.

We can't escape weather. It is a universal experience. We are all interested in it. If, however, by a great effort, we could refrain from talking so much about it, we should doubtless make ourselves more comfortable and bore other people less.—Exchange.

Athletes Speak At Hi-Y Banquet

The annual football banquet was held Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A. The president of the Hi-Y introduced Dean Butler of New York University who in turn introduced the other speakers of the evening. The first was Mr. Thomas Newell, head assistant to "Chick" Meenan, coach of the New York University football team. Mr. Newell told the fellows about the football season of that college from the time they started until the final game.

The second speaker was the colored trainer from the college. He told of how he kept the squad in good spirits. The football squad must have been greatly entertained if he had the same effect on them as he had on the boys of the Hi-Y.

When Dean Butler visits Kingston he usually brings someone who is musically inclined. This time it was Mr. Waite, who played two selections on the slide trombone. Mr. Waite was accompanied on the piano by a companion from N. Y. U.

The speaker of the evening was "Chick" Meenan, coach of the New York University football team. Everyone enjoyed his splendid address. One of the things he spoke of was the trainer's good work in keeping the squad in good spirits at all times. He also said he enjoyed speaking to a group of young fellows such as the Hi-Y. He praised them for their work and keeping together as an organization.

The meal was served by the Hi-Y Auxiliary and they were complimented for their cooperation by "Chick" Meenan.

I feel like a sign or twinge of pain. Alkine has opened up a different world to me.

GOEBEL SECOND TO LINDY AS AIR BOOL

Less Modest Than Colonel,
but Great Flyer.

New York.—Two years ago a broad-shouldered young man with crinkly lines of humor beneath his eyes swayed into the New York office of a prominent moving-picture concern.

"I'm a stunt aviator," he announced brusquely. "Out of a job. Almost broke. Living in a Brooklyn Heights furnished room at present. What would you think of a loop-the-loop under the Brooklyn bridge?"

"Why, it's suicide, man," he was told. "You must be crazy."

The young man, who was nearly six feet tall and who looked about thirty years old, threw back his head and laughed.

"Suicide, nothing," he said. "How much am I offered?"

The officials consulted. A loop-the-loop between the East river and the struts of Brooklyn bridge seemed impossible. However, it would be a wonderful picture. Finally it was decided to offer the daring aviator $25,000.

The offer was duly made and the young man left in disgust. His hopes were in shreds. He had dreamed of earning enough by perilous stunts here to purchase a plane of his own, then to fly to Paris and do similar stunts about the staid old Eiffel tower there.

This seemed the end. He went back to Brooklyn and then down to Coney Island. A month later he was back on the Pacific coast, the home of his boyhood. He had got there by "bumping rides" with west-bound pilots whom he could persuade to carry him free for short distances.

Of course this all happened six months before Charles A. Lindbergh shook the country from its aviation coma by his picturesque flight to Paris.

Today Art Goebel is the aviator most talked of next to Lindbergh. Self-assertive as he was when he wanted to loop-the-loop under the Brooklyn bridge, he is a different type of hero from Lindbergh.

Even yet the public is slow to appreciate the value of the cross-country records made recently by Goebel. When it does it may enshrine him along with Lindbergh, though of course it will never allow him to displace Lindbergh.

It was Goebel who spanned the continent in the first west to east non-stop flight recently. His plane made the 2,710 miles in 18 hours and 35 minutes.

Had Adventurous Youth.

Goebel's career, shows only superficial similarities to that of Lindbergh. He had an adventurous youth, reeling in fishing, milking cows on his father's farm in Rocky Ford, Colo. In favor of tinkering with gasoline motors in the garages of Main street. He enlisted in the army in 1918 and had a varied stunts experience before fame came to his door.

When the principle magazine, J. D. Dole, back in August, 1927, offered $25,000 in prizes for a 2,400 mile flight from San Francisco to Honolulu, Goebel pawned or sold nearly everything he possessed in order to get ready the Travel Air monoplane, the Woodrow which interestingly enough was in dian for "good luck." Previously Goebel had been stunting before Hollywood's cameras.

Goebel's victory made him internationally known. Almost overnight he became a colonel, though previously he had had no military title.

Then came a "gang war" trip to the Orient for Goebel. Immediately there comes to mind the 1,900-mile tour of South America and Central America which Lindbergh made in the Spirit of St. Louis. Goebel's flight was less productive of international good will. He toured Japan in the interest of an airplane company.

There are many differences between Goebel and Lindbergh. For instance, the former was more of an instrument flyer than the latter. When Lindbergh made his Paris trip he did not know much about the science of navigation. It is a recognized fact that he was taught this science by army flyers after his return. Goebel, on the other hand, was always an instrument flyer and an excellent navigator.

Rabies Causes 3rd Human Death

The third death of a human being this year from rabies in upstate New York occurred in Hudson, Westchester county, on Thanksgiving day, according to Dr. Howard S. Godfrey, Jr., director of the division of communicable diseases. State Department of Health. The deceased was a woman who was bitten on the wrist some time during the latter part of September. The dog that did the biting had been given to the family a short time previously. Two weeks later the dog became ill, one of the symptoms being "something in the throat," this was followed by paralysis of the hind legs and death. Dr. Godfrey stated that these symptoms are particularly characteristic of rabies and says that people should be warned against trying to remove anything from the throat of a dog apparently choking. The woman apparently paid no attention to the minor injury caused by the dog's bite. The Sunday before Thanksgiving day she was perfectly well. The next day, however, she was "a little excited and nervous and did not sleep well that night owing to nervousness." On Tuesday the characteristic paralysis of the throat developed and after three days of indescribable agony she died. Dr. Godfrey says that rabies among dogs is spreading in New York state and believes that only by rigorous enforcement of existing ordinances together with the destruction of all un-muzzled dogs can the situation be controlled.

If a person is bitten by a dog the wound should be cauterized immediately by a physician with fuming nitric acid and if there is any suspicious illness in the dog, Pasteur treatment should be started. This will prevent the development of rabies in most cases, but once the disease is established a fatal outcome is practically inevitable.

Eleanor Gunn Says

At the important football games of the year there was a noticeable decrease in the number of sports clothes worn—women being very much more "dressed-up."

Grey knickerbockers with matching grey hats were a highlight.

Vivid purple hat crepe dresses are brightening the luncheon hour at smart places.

Purple dresses topped by brown felt hats matching beaver or other brown fur coats are also a new note.

Large taffeta bow perched on the shoulder of a black panne velvet dress is the forerunner possibly of almost endless shoulder bow arrangements.

Cloth coats with circular fur borders dered capes are capable of being adjusted so that the cape is gathered up until the fur encircles the throat.

Bright red evening dresses continue to dominate.

Close fitting metal evening hats are gaining in favor.

Matching one's shoes to one's fur coat or the fur trimming of a cloth coat is becoming something of a fad. Stockings have been matching furs for a season or more—also gloves.

A Charming Afternoon Frock.

6299. In the soft folds of the side slip in the circular lines of the hip yoke and the new shaping at the neck, fashion's latest features are expressed. This model has youthful and graceful lines. The waist blouse most becomingly above the yoke of the skirt. Beige lace was chosen for this design. It is also attractive in silk crepe in the new shade of brown or in printed silk with a dark green background and light green figures.

The pattern is cut in five sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size will require 4 3/4 yards of 35-inch material. To underface the dip portion of the skirt requires 3/4 yard of 35-inch material. The underbody requires one yard of lining, 22 inches wide. The width of the dress at the lower edge is two yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Fall and Winter 1928 Book of Fashions showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies' misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Lemuel Atkins has purchased a new Essex five-passenger sedan, and John Lawrence a new five-passenger Ford.

Mrs. Alice Kallop, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Will Degraw, has returned to her home in Walden.

The Ladies' Aid was well attended Wednesday afternoon. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Trowbridge in Kyserike. Plans were made to make this meeting the first of the new year, both interesting and profitable. Further notice will be given later.

The mother who could not keep her family well

IT SEEMED as if there was always someone feeling out-of-sorts. Not exactly sick but languid—indifferent to food and irritable. And her husband, who used to enjoy the best of health, was now constantly tired and often discouraged and worried. What could be the matter?

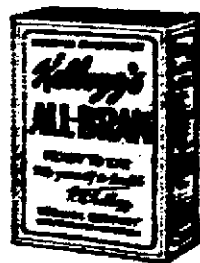

Many a family, due to the lack of bulk in the diet, suffers from constipation. And this evil scourge undermines health and strength—even hope and happiness. It brings throbbing heads and aching backs, dragging feet and slumping shoulders. It often finally leads to untold suffering and disease.

Fortunately thousands of women have found the way to save their families from the evils of constipation. By serving Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—that healthful cereal—in some form every day, constipation is safely relieved and prevented.

It takes "all-bran" to be 100% effective

It is bulk or roughage that combats constipation. ALL-BRAN is practically all-bulk

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Guaranteed! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this distinctive seal. It is a guarantee of purity and quality. It is also a guarantee of the best price.

because it is 100 per cent bran. This bulk absorbs moisture and carries it throughout the digestive system. At the same time, it gently distends the intestines. Exercising them—sweeping out poisonous wastes.

Part-bran products seldom contain a sufficient quantity of bulk to be completely effective. That is why doctors recommend Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is infinitely better than habit-forming pills and laxatives. A naturally healthful cereal. To enjoy with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking too. Recipes on package. Mix it with hot cereals. Sprinkle it into soups. Just eat two tablespoonsful daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

Insist on genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants, cafeterias. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

1928 Christmas Seal Ship Model Presented to Mrs. Coolidge

Edward Thatcher completing the "Ship of Health."

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge

A grandfather who ran away to sea at the age of nine to ship as a cabin boy is indirectly the reason that an exact model of the "Ship of Health" on this year's Christmas seal appears in the White House.

The model, presented to Mrs. Coolidge a few days ago, is the work of Edward Thatcher, the grandson of the little cabin boy, whose inherited love of the sea finds expression in the construction of ship models and has made him one of the foremost authorities in this country on the subject.

"My grandfather, John Thatcher, lived in Boston, England, when he ran away," explained Mr. Thatcher, "and for a number of years he followed the sea in sailing ships before he settled in New York. So, naturally, I have always been interested in the sea and ships, particularly ship models.

"My first model, Columbus' Santa Maria, was built in a day shop at the back of our apartment in New York, where I used to tinker when I came home tired from teaching at Columbia University. When it was finished, this model hung over the dining table, and made interesting shadows on the ceiling from the candle light. Ship models were quite a novelty then.

"Models and toy work interested me so that finally I decided to take them up in earnest, often going out to real toy factories and working on their products, developing new toys and writing 'how-to-make-it' magazine articles.

"In one of these articles I described four ship models made of such materials as wood from packing boxes, thick paste board, wooden button molds, spoons and ten-cent-store beads, which, when finished, looked very real.

"When they were published a great many people built them, and I had the pleasure of answering many, many letters from all over the world. Among those who constructed one of the models was an official of the National Tuberculosis Association, so, when it was decided to have a Roman ship on the 1928 Christmas seal, I was asked to build a model of it.

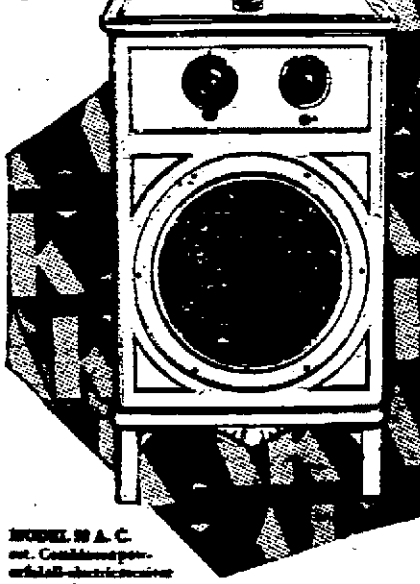

"This required considerable research work, because there is not a great deal of material left us about these interesting old vessels and it is not as easy to find as that of the popular Spanish type. However, I have scrap books and much other material relating to ships and models, so the plans were finally completed. It was a pleasant task to work over the details of the rowers' benches, steering oars and other things and to read again 'Ben Hur,' E. Koble Chaterton's splendid book, 'Selling Ships and Their Story' and Kipling's 'The Finest Story Ever Told.'

Mrs. Thatcher always adds the finishing touches by painting the models, sewing the sails and dyeing them.

Use Judgment.

Downtown Santa Writes to Kiddies

Dear Kiddies,
Every day for the past two or three weeks I have been receiving from all over the city and towns about thirty or forty letters and I suppose you little children are wondering why I do not answer your letters. This year I am going to be better than ever to good little boys and girls and when you wake up Christmas morning you certainly will be more than surprised at all the candy and fruit that will be in your stockings as well as the toys and presents that will be around your Christmas tree.

Pretty soon now I am going to answer all your letters, and if you are good little children I shall see that you get for Christmas everything you ask for—but remember, you do not get anything at all unless you are good.

Last year and the year before I spent all my time downtown going through the streets and stores and made lots of you happy with little boxes of candy. This year I am going to do the same thing and I want to see each and every child downtown that I saw last year as well as all others, for I have a nice box of candy for all of you.

I don't know yet just when I shall arrive but if you will look in the Freeman on Monday, December 10, I shall tell you all about it, and don't forget to be there to welcome me because I am going to have a great big bag full of presents and each of you will get at least one.

Your dear old friend,

Congress Clash on Dry Enforcement

Representatives Free Their Mind on Appropriation for Enforcing Liquor Law—Senate and House Committees Take Up Measure.

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP).—Congress seems to have slipped quickly into the routine of an ordinary session.

The first political skirmish with Democratic and Republican senators jockeying at one another, in the course of which Senator Heflin, Alabama, took a fling at his old enemy, Tammany, is over.

Both houses are involved in legislation that promises plenty of action, local and otherwise. The senate with its long standing acquaintance, Boulder Dam, and the house with the billion dollar treasury-post office appropriation bill.

The senate was wondering today whether the Boulder Dam problem was any nearer solution because of the resumption of the quarrel between Arizona and California over the distribution of water in the lower Colorado basin in the event that the dam is built.

The house faced the appropriation bill with the memory of a wet-dry fight over that part of the measure which carried $12,500,000 for liquor law enforcement. Representative La Guardia, Republican, New York, a wet, said there was to decide on the part of the administration to enforce prohibition. He declared that if the dry really wanted to continue the "Prohibition experiment" that $250,000,000 and 150,000 agents would be required to guard American shores and borders.

Law for Drys, Law for Wets.

Representative Celler, Democrat, New York, also a wet, interrupted La Guardia to assert the administration "wants to give the drys the law and the wets the liquor." The only other speaker, Representative Lrazier, Democrat, Missouri, a dry, said the dry law was unpopular because the government had not made a sincere effort to enforce it.

General debate on the appropriation bill has been finished and amendments today were in order.

With Boulder Dam and the Treasury-Postoffice Bill due for what seemed an uninterrupted run of the day on the floor, committees of both houses were faced with measures and proceedings to the formative stage.

Killing Peace Pact Passed.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee (all arranged to hear Secretary Kellogg on the Kellogg-Briand Treaty for the renunciation of war. The pact has not only passed this far but President Coolidge is known to be strongly in favor of it, having expressed the hope that it be ratified before he leaves office March 4.

On the House side the appropriations sub-committee on war, agriculture, state, justice, commerce and labor were ready for work. The House Foreign Relations Committee was due for its regular meeting and the House Census Committee had set for itself the task of considering re-appointment, long urged and long deferred.

President Coolidge has solved the question of whether he would submit the names of Secretary of the Interior West and Secretary of Commerce Whiting to the Senate for ratification by transmitting both for consideration. Opposition to West is expected to develop.

What's the fastest come-back you can think of?
A bad check.

His Chance Small.

A commercial traveler, calling upon a new customer, produced by mistake a snapshot of his native instead of his business card.

"That's the best I represent," he said.

The customer examined the snapshot, which depicted a smiling woman of the young woman and returned the photograph with the remark: "This snapshot will never be manager of that firm?"—London Times.

Went's Faking Wife.

The golf professional was giving his wife a few lessons. He was a very good looking fellow, and an interested crowd of girls gathered round to watch.

"Now, dearest," said the pro, smilingly, "you hold the club like this, and then, sweetheart, you take up your stance like that, nearly doubling, you hit the ball like this."

"That's enough," snapped his wife. "You're not trying to teach me, you're trying to attract a few clients."

"Most every day we hear someone say, 'You'd be surprised.' And as we look around, darned if we're not."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 7 (AP).—The stock market, which went through one of the most swinging reactions in recent years in yesterday's session, staged a remarkable comeback after a week opening today. Early declines of three to 20 points were largely made up by midday and a long list of issues were marked up 2 to 10 points above yesterday's final quotations in the afternoon trading. Sales were in enormous volume, with the ticker nearly half an hour behind the market at midday.

The recovery was stimulated by indications of easing credit conditions. Although call loans renewed at 10 per cent, the highest opening rate in eight years, a plentiful supply of funds appeared at that figure, leading to hopes of a lowering in the rate. Receipts of $5,600,000 in gold from Canada, coupled with predictions that the current inflow may reach $20,000,000, also helped to turn the tide of speculative sentiment.

Several of the large commission houses, which previously had been advising caution in the making of new commitments, took a bullish position on the market on the theory that yesterday's decline had corrected, at least temporarily, the weak and technical position of the market. A brisk demand for stocks developed from the "sold out bulls," who had been waiting for a favorable opportunity to get back into the market.

Radio, which broke 14 points at the opening to 381, rallied to 402; Montgomery Ward rallied from 275 to 289; A. M. Byers from 181 to 193; International Nickel from 205 1/2 to 220; Rossa Insurance from 242 to 248 and Fox Film from 90 to 96.

Wright Aeronautical led the recovery by soaring 10 1/2 points above yesterday's final quotation. Packard rebounded nine points and Allied Chemical, the American Tobacco Issues, Associated Dry Goods, Commercial Solvents, Curtiss Aeroplane, Chile Copper, General Electric, Johns Manville and Chrysler Motors sold four to seven points above last night's final prices.

Rails took a prominent part in the upswing. Northern Pacific, which is expected to increase its annual dividend from $5 to $6 a share this month, advanced 5 points and Erie Common 4.

The call money rate dropped to 9 per cent at about 1:30.

Quotations given by Parker McElroy & Co., members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city, branch office, 260 Fair street.

200 New Cases Of Influenza

Decorations at The Benedictine

Los Angeles, Dec. 1. (AP)—About 1,500 new cases of influenza have been reported in Los Angeles in the last two days, health authorities announced today that the epidemic, which has cost 152 lives in more than three weeks, had not reached its height. This they expect to come next week.

Health department figures show that there have been 3,000 cases since the disease became prevalent November 13. Yesterday's new cases numbered 400, while 500 were reported Wednesday.

The Benedictine Hospital and Nurses Home will be decorated for the coming Christmas holidays again this year and everything possible will be done to bring the spirit of the holiday season into the sick room. Mrs. Edward J. Kelley is chairman of the decoration committee having this work in charge. Mrs. Kelley was chairman last year and she received many tributes for the matter in which the hospital was decorated. Mrs. Kelley is also secretary of the Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital for the coming year succeeding Mrs. H. L. Van Nostrand.

Backward or Forward, All "Samce" to Poseur

The Browning cult was still in an extraordinary loyal body of worshipers. A story goes that a grateful person who posed—and only posed—as a Browning student remarked in the hearing of a dried-in-the-wool Browning that only dense folk brought against Browning the charge of obscurity and that he had never read a line of the master's that he found any difficulty in understanding.

His host took down a volume of Browning from the shelf, turned to a piece, and beginning with the last line, read it, line for line, backward, to the beginning. When he had ended, he inquired:

"Is the meaning of that quite plain to you?"

"Quite plain," was the reply. "From the beginning to the stately end, like the unchecked march to its destination of an irresistible army. I never had a doubt about what the master had in mind when he thus wrote."—Kansas City Star.

Waves' Height Deceptive.

Waves rarely have a greater height than 60 feet, but they appear to be much higher when seen from a ship in the open ocean. These waves frequently have a greater height, however, in breaking upon a rocky coast. The Bell light on the Scottish coast, 115 feet above the sea, is often hidden by foam and spray. The Eldrstone lighthouse, formerly 72 feet, had to be rebuilt to a height of 132 feet to prevent the waves from riding over the top of the lantern. During a storm of exceptional duration in February, 1917, R. M. S. P. Oruba, sailing from Southampton to the Barbados, encountered waves 45 feet high. This was in the North Atlantic. In the South Atlantic and South Pacific oceans, storm waves have been recorded that reached 50 feet in their fullest development.

Drammed to Church.

It seems that the devout must be summoned to church, for all over the world the use of the bell for this purpose seems to be recognized and generally made use of, but there are some localities in Europe where the bell is not available for one reason or another, and as a substitute, a device somewhat like a drum is made use of. As a crank is turned a series of hammers strike against the top of the drum, which is shaped as a large box. The sound is amplified and, as the drum is usually placed on the roof, the clatter can be heard for a considerable distance.

Baby's Chance for Life Twice Those of 1912

Washington.—The 1923 baby has twice the chance of living his first year out and attaining a healthy, happy childhood than had the baby of 1912, announces the children's bureau of the Department of Labor.

Birth registration now is complete in about 90 per cent of the United States. In the first year the census bureau published birth statistics—1915—of every 1,000 babies born in the birth registration area 100 died before their first birthday.

Provisional figures indicate that only 64 out of every 1,000 infants died before their first birthday in 1927. This means a saving of approximately 36,000 infant lives last year. The 1923 baby, the children's bureau points out, comes to a mother who is better prepared to care for him than the mother of 1912, and who may supplement her own knowledge from community resources to a greater extent.

Talk to Students On College Life

New York University Squad Give Talks to High School Pupils in Kingston and Saugerties.

New York University sent a delegation to Kingston on Wednesday at the request of Chester R. Hall, Boys' Work secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. to assist him in presenting college life to the students of this city and Saugerties.

The "troupe," as they called themselves, were under the direct leadership of T. A. Distler, director of admissions and personnel. Mr. Distler brought with him J. F. "Chick" Meehan, football coach; S. J. "Dutch" Connors, assistant coach and All-American back of 1921; Harold Walte, solo trombonist of the university band, and Harold Vogt, pianist. Both of these musicians are students in the University School of Music.

The day's events opened with a musical program and an address on "What you have a right to expect from a college," by Prof. Distler, at the high school assembly in the morning.

Prof. Distler rather startled some of the students when he told them that what they had a right to expect was not only building, equipment, location, but most of all they should demand of the university and colleges as to who and what were their teachers and professors.

He closed the address with the thoughts that coupled with this demand, the student going to college should have ability, reliance, endurance (mental) and action.

After his addresses Mr. Distler met with many of the students and discussed going to college and aided them in their thinking.

The group next assembled at the Rotary meeting, where Messrs. Meehan, and Connors spoke on football and the two instrumentalists favored the men with several numbers. It was one of the few meetings that the Rotarians permitted to run overtime without a murmur.

Compares Coaches and Teachers.

At 2:30 the troupe appeared on the platform of the Saugerties High School and after several numbers by the musicians Prof. Distler introduced Mr. Meehan, who spoke to the students. Mr. Meehan compared the way the pupils responded to a football coach's requests and that of a teacher. He emphasized the fact that should a player fail to respect the coach, the coach has several ways of punishing him, either by reducing him to the second or third squad, or else make him work hard at some grueling exercise. The teacher cannot do this, and so Coach Meehan pleaded with the students to play the game squarely with their teachers and give them the same loyal support that they gave their coaches. For, says Mr. Meehan, "the only difference between them and a coach is that they are teaching an academic subject instead of a physical subject." The coach gets the write-ups for the poor newspaper men must write about something, and reading about a mathematics class is dry reading, hence the teacher seldom gets into print and gains popularity that way.
